DASTARDLY CRIME IN LONDON.

FIELD-MARSHAL SIR HENRY WILSON ASSASSINATED.

The Work of Irish Extremists.

A SENSATIONAL MURDER.

(Heater's Service.)

London, June 22.

Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson has been shot dead outside his London residence.

Two arrests have been made.

Conflicting Accounts.

Sir Henry was shot shortly after unveiling a war memorial to the Great Eastern Railway employees at Liverpool Street Station. He drove up in a taxi-cab to his residence, in Eaton Place, at 2.40 in the afternoon.

There are conflicting accounts of the tragedy. Some say that the assassins forced their way into the house after a fight with the police who were recently assigned to watch the Field-Marshal. But they, and other eye-witnesses give graphic stories of the pursuit. It appears that when Sir Henry Wilson fell, the murderers tried to seize a motor car standing on the corner, but in this they were frustrated and fled on foot, walking rapidly in the centre of the roadway, firing at a crowd of two hundred pursuers headed by ten policemen. The murderers fired on the crowd, wounding a civilian, in addition to two constables. The murderers were rounded up in Ebury Street and captured after a desperate struggle, in which the police used their truncheons. One ruffian, taking aim with a revolver, was disarmed with a blow on the wrist by a skillfully thrown truncheon. The infuriated crowd closed in and the police had the greatest difficulty in preventing the murderers from being beaten to death.

A Thrilling Pursuit.

Eaton Place was under repair at the time of the tragedy but the workmen's accounts of the actual tragedy are most contradictory. But they, and other eye-witnesses give graphic stories of the pursuit. It appears that when Sir Henry Wilson fell, the murderers tried to seize a motor car standing on the corner, but in this they were frustrated and fled on foot, walking rapidly in the centre of the roadway, firing at a crowd of two hundred pursuers headed by ten policemen. The murderers fired on the crowd, wounding a civilian, in addition to two constables. The murderers were rounded up in Ebury Street and captured after a desperate struggle, in which the police used their truncheons. One ruffian, taking aim with a revolver, was disarmed with a blow on the wrist by a skillfully thrown truncheon. The infuriated crowd closed in and the police had the greatest difficulty in preventing the murderers from being beaten to death.

The murderers are officially described as being 24 years of age each, of no occupation or address. One, a big burly man, was badly hurt in the struggle and the other was slightly limping.

Dismay in the Commons.

The news of the tragedy caused the greatest stir and dismay in the House of Commons. Mr. Lloyd George was so absorbed that he failed to answer a question regarding honours to members. There was momentary irritation, but Mr. Asquith crossed to the Treasury Bench and earnestly discussed the matter with Mr. Lloyd George. Then, Mr. Asquith rose and emotionally described the tidings as of the most dreadful character and the murder of a gallant soldier—one of the Great War Generals—who had become a highly esteemed member of the House of Commons.

Mr. Chamberlain, replying to Mr. Asquith's request for information, gave what was available and proceeded to pay a tribute to the late Field-Marshal's service. He concluded by moving the adjournment of the House, precedents notwithstanding, as a mark of profound respect.

This was sorrowfully done.

Fears For Irish Peace.

Reuter understands that after the adjournment of the House of Commons, the Ministers discussed the position but, in the absence of full information of all the circumstances, were unable to reach any conclusions regarding the possible consequences of the assassination. A widespread fear prevails among Members of the House of Commons that there will be a reaction in Ulster which will fall upon the Catholic minority. It is also suggested that the extremists who planned the murder may contemplate other assassinations and it is said that the police are taking special precautions to protect certain other persons, possibly marked down.

A Police Victim.

One of the policemen wounded in the chase of the murderers has died.

Prince's Birthday Dinner Cancelled.

His Majesty the King has cancelled the dinner which was to have been given to-day in honour of the birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, in consequence of the murder of Sir Henry Wilson.

A Scotland Yard Statement.

In the House of Lords, Lord Birkenhead read a Scotland Yard message, stating that Sir Henry Wilson was shot three times. An examination disclosed wounds in the body, arm and leg. It is believed that the shooting occurred on the threshold of his house when he was about to leave.

The two arrested men are James O'Brien and James Connolly, and they have declined to give an account of themselves beyond saying that they are soldiers. But they have not indicated their regiment. The police have found a copy of the official organ of the I.R.A. on Connolly and also correspondence proving that he was undoubtedly a member of the I.R.A.

Lord Birkenhead paid a tribute to the late Sir Henry and Lord Salisbury moved a resolution recording the House's detestation of the horrible crime by which the country had been deprived of its most distinguished soldier and public servant.

Lord Crew and others supported, after which the House silently adopted the resolution.

THE LATE SIR HENRY WILSON.

Strived To Pacify Ireland.

Not only in London but throughout the Empire a profound sensation will have been caused by the assassination of Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, the sad story of which is contained in to-day's Reuter telegrams. Unfortunately, there seems little doubt but that his murder was conspired to and carried out by southern Irish extremists, and this fact has a peculiar irony, inasmuch as Sir Henry, who was an Ulsterman, recently resigned his post with the British Army and took over the duties of the Commander-in-Chief of the Ulster forces for the express purpose of acting as a pacifier between the northern and southern factions of Ireland. Aiming to give his best services to his native country he has lost his life at the hands of Ireland's greatest enemies — extremists. The Empire mourns the death of a brilliant and gallant soldier, one of those military leaders to whom we all owe so much for the strenuous work they rendered during theateful years 1914-1918.

The Late Sir Henry Wilson.

The late Field-Marshal was born in Edgeworthstown, Ireland, in 1861, was educated at Marlborough College, graduated at the Staff College and entered the Royal Irish Regiment in 1884. With the Rifle Brigade, he served through the Burma Campaign, was wounded, and in subsequent years held various important appointments at Aldershot. He served throughout the South African war, being D.A.A.G. Army Headquarters 1900 O.L. From then on until the outbreak of the European War he held some of the leading military appointments, being Director of Military Operations at Army Headquarters for the four years preceding the war. He was then appointed Assistant Chief of General Staff to Lord French, and throughout the war held the appointments of Corps Commander, Liaison Officer with the French and Commander of the Eastern District. At the conclusion of the war he was appointed Chief of the Imperial General Staff and the British Military Representative at the Versailles Conference. He was appointed a Field-Marshal in 1919.

Among the various honours held by him were those of G.C.B., Grand Cross Legion of Honour and Grand Cross of the Russian White Eagle.

During February the Bishop of Chelmsford received over 40 postcards with only one penny stamp, and six unstamped. He paid the surcharge, but he reminds his correspondents that the charge is 1½, or 1d. if only five words are used.

DEATH OF WU TING-FANG.

DIES IN HOSPITAL THIS MORNING.

INTERVIEW WITH HIS SON.

SUN YAT-SEN GATHERS MILITARY REMNANT.

Our special correspondent at Canton wires as follows:—

Canton, June 23.

Dr. Wu Ting-fang died at 1.15 a.m. to-day at the Kung Yue Hospital, where he had been lying suffering from a nervous breakdown and high fever.

Our Canton correspondent writes as follows:—

It is stated that Sun Yat-sen has landed at Whampoa and has established himself as Generalissimo in the old Military College, having collected dispersed soldiers and a number of newly-enlisted men to the total number of about a thousand, to be his bodyguards. Only about 30 per cent. of these possess arms, and they are short of ammunition. A message has been despatched to the commanders of the expeditionary army to bring back their forces to Canton, but so far no reply has been received.

A report from Shuiwan states that General Hsu Sung-chi is being pressed by the Northern Army and is finding difficulty in making a safe retreat. More than 40 battalions of Chan Kung-ming's troops have been despatched to Shuiwan to bar his way.

After Wu Ting-fang handed over his seals to the Provisional Assembly, the latter unanimously elected Chan Kung-ming as Civil Governor and sent the seals to Chan's headquarters.

Although the commanders of the naval squadron have come to terms with General Yip and decided to cease hostilities, the forts which command Whampoa, where the ships are anchored, have trained their big guns on the vessels in case the commanders go back on their word.

Dr. Wu's Illness.

Writing yesterday afternoon, our special correspondent at Canton states:—As I have already wired, Dr. Wu Ting-fang is lying ill in the Kung Yue Hospital, an institution that has been built up on modern lines a mile or so to the east of the railway station and almost within the notorious Tungshan district. His condition, brought about by a nervous breakdown, is stated by the American doctor in charge as being serious. With the intention of, if possible, interviewing him, following the report that he had surrendered the Civil Governor's seals to the Provisional Assembly, I proceeded to the hospital this afternoon. Apparently the drastic measures adopted by the authorities on the previous day for dealing with the troubled situation at Tungshan had had their effect, for I passed through this district without being in any way molested. On arrival at the hospital I was informed that Dr. Wu Ting-fang was seriously ill, suffering from high fever and a nervous breakdown. I then sought Dr. Wu's son, Mr. C. C. Wu, who, with Mr. Frank Lee and other officials, had taken refuge in Tungshan in consequence of the crisis. Mr. Wu, who had been on a visit to General Ngai Bong-ping, whose residence is close by, soon turned up, when the following interview took place:—

Question—Will you inform me what Dr. Wu Ting-fang intends to do as a result of the position which has now been created?

Answer—He has already circulated a telegram expressing his views, and he has handed over the portfolios of Foreign Affairs and Finance to Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Further, he has handed his seals as Civil Governor to the Provisional Assembly for safe keeping.

Q.—That means that he has definitely severed his connection with the political situation?

A.—For the present he is physically incapable of doing anything, being seriously ill. Mentally he is also very much upset.

A.—There was no question of his escaping. He was in the Civil Governor's yamen from the beginning of the shooting on Friday morning until two o'clock in the afternoon. Then General Ngai Bong-ping thought the place was not safe, being so close to the zone of the fighting, so he asked my father to go to his (the General's) house at Yushan. When he got there he found that the place was not too safe, on account of the near presence of warships and the likelihood of exchange of shots between the two forces. As a matter of fact, the house was shot through during the bombardment that ensued, so General Ngai thought it would be better for him to go to Tungshan. He was in the Canton Christian College with his secretary for a couple of days and then I found that he was ill and needed medical attention, and I brought him over here yesterday.

Sun's Position.

The next subject touched upon in the conversation was the present position of Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Mr. Wu did not agree that Sun's position was desperate. He contended that Sun was still in command of the Navy.

Q.—Have you heard from Dr. Sun lately?

A.—Yes. Yesterday I read that he was in command of the situation.

Q.—Am I right in assuming that you have seen Dr. Sun lately?

A.—Yes.

Q.—And how does he regard the situation?

A.—He seems to be firm in the attitude he has taken up.

Q.—He relies on the Northern troops?—Yes; I presume so.

Mr. Wu, asked what he personally intended doing in the future, replied:—I am not an official now. So far as I am concerned, my business now is to attend upon my father. Where he goes, I go.

Q.—What is your view regarding the attitude of General Ngai Bong-ping? He appears to be undecided as to which way he will turn.

A.—His attitude has all along been neutral. He still commands his own Division, but the troops are all scattered. One brigade is at Yintong and another is scattered in the outlying districts around here. He is still a military factor in the situation. I think he is devoting his time to the preservation of the lives and properties of the inhabitants and preventing a recurrence of further fighting within the city.

Q.—Can you furnish any reason for the bombardment of the city?

A.—I think the probable reason was as a protest against the events of the day before, and (with a smile) as a demonstration, I suppose.

HONGKONG POLO PLAYER.

Not Seriously Injured.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, June 23.

Mr. Bibby, the Hongkong polo player who was injured during the interport match, was hit by a polo stick. He was not seriously injured, and is now resting comfortably in hospital.

[The following telegram has been received in Hongkong from Mr. C. C. Boyd:—The six chukkas. Result eight chukkas. Shanghai six, Hongkong five. Bibby disabled not seriously, but unable to play last chukka. Magnificent game. The Honorary Secretary of the Hongkong Polo Club has replied on behalf of the Club congratulating the Hongkong team on the magnificent effort and wishing Mr. Bibby a speedy recovery.]

SHANGHAI SITUATION.

Disbandment of Troops Urged.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, June 23.

Peking is probably abolishing the Defence Commissioner's yamen. Organizations here demand the disbandment of 7,000 troops, also the creation of a Volunteer Corps to aid the police.

and in Tungshan, but it is believed that they are anxious that he should subscribe to the pact between Admiral Tong and General Chan.

As to the skirmish at Yingtak, previously reported, it was more in the nature of a scramble for foodstuffs than anything else. It seems that General Hsu Sung-chi's forces, being short of provisions, hit upon the idea of seizing some of the stores brought up by General Yip's commanders.

Owing to the fact that a certain section of the Cantonese troops have not been paid for months, they have begun to loot in the interior of the city. Many citizens report being held up on the pretext of a search for arms and dispossessed of whatever valuables or money they carried.

But no actual fighting has taken place within the city limits.

As to Sun Yat-sen, his position appears desperate, and that fact is recognised by the merchants, who are said to have held meetings to discuss his future—whether he should be backed off to Japan or given a position in the new scheme of government in China.

Deserters from General Hsu Sung-chi's forces are returning here in large numbers.

Why General Yip Acted.

From an official who professes to know the inside facts, I have learned the reason why General Yip Kue carried out the coup when he did. This is to the effect, that, being aware that after the fighting which resulted in the capture of Kanchow, the expeditionary troops were left with an average of only three rounds per man, General Yip decided to cut off the military supplies from Canton and in that way to assist the reunification scheme by rendering the expedition impossible. The consequences are known, and General Yip's action is said to have provided the principal reason why Sun Yat-sen ordered the bombardment of the city.

Stopping the Looting.

Canton, Thursday morning.

The looting which has been taking place at Tungshan was brought to an abrupt conclusion yesterday afternoon, when troops were sent from the city to deal with the unruly soldiers. These latter, who belonged to General Yip's army, had been having matters pretty much their own way. They burgled houses at night and even turned their rifles on one another in the scramble for loot.

It was not until the arrival of other troops that the trouble was quelled. One of the ringleaders of the trouble was captured and taken back to headquarters, where he is likely to receive very short shrift from the disciplinary authorities.

Bomb Firing.

Sir,—May I ask the hospitality of your columns to publicly request the party who, in his childish, to say the least, attempt to amuse himself was firing bombs last night in the neighbourhood of Cameron Road, Kowloon, to indulge in such practice (which by way is punishable by heavy fine) whenever he finds himself alone in the wilderness and ten miles away from nearest human habitation?

The firing yesterday was nothing but a disgrace to anyone who considers himself a gentleman, as the loud detonations really startled everyone, especially children, who were then asleep. Hoping this will catch the eye of the offending party to avoid taking redress by lawful means.

Yours etc.

THE HEART OF ASIA.

Afghanistan as Converging Point.

Afghanistan is a gateway from our Indian Empire into the fascinating regions beyond. This gateway is carefully guarded, even in these days when peace and amity have been reestablished between Afghanistan and the British Empire. On the border is an inscription: "It is absolutely forbidden to cross this border into Afghan territory." A telephone message from Kabul to the frontier made the passage easy, writes the Times special correspondent who lately visited there, and passports and frontiers represented for him no barriers or delays. He was able to travel in a motor-car into the heart and centre of the forbidden land, over an excellent road constructed by an Englishman, a road down which heavy postal lorries convey the confused messages of an awakening Afghanistan to the Khyber Pass. There is a reserve about Kabul, a picturesque Orientalism that protects and half reveals the secrets of changing Asia. This journey as an adventure into the dimly known Afghanistan was not self-sufficing. These ill-defined provinces of motley population on either side of the Hindu Kush, consolidated into a kingdom by the Amir Abdurrahman, thrill not alone to the enterprise that connects them by roads, lorries, and telephones with the big world of India. The land is awake to the movements of Bokhara, Turkistan, and Ankara, and of that strange influence in Moscow which is provoking Asia to new and half-intelligible combinations. How in the heart of Asia can we justly discern the mutual attractions and repulsions of Ankara and Moscow, of China and Japan? Afghanistan is in direct contact with this troubled world of obscure possibilities. It is in contact, too, with an India whose ways of evolution have become for us a problem of urgent importance. What emerges from Afghanistan southward to India and to the sea is subject to logical control and to judicial estimate. It is fortunate that the details of intercourse with the British Empire have been brought into the forms of ordered amity. There is, however, in Afghanistan a residue of the unknown and the hardly calculable. There are those turbid influences from the regions beyond, the eddies and currents of that inland sea of changing opinion in Asia. What of the routes that lead from Kabul into Turkistan and Persia? Who comes and who goes by them, and to what purpose? What messages are conveyed to and fro by the way between Kabul and Asia Minor through Herat and Tabriz? What are the influences that pass through Orenburg and Tashkend, and what is the timbre of the vibrations that come from the very Far East through all the confusion of China? Afghanistan is in the centre of all these conflicting currents, and for that reason Kabul is one of the most intensely interesting spots in Asia.

messages poured in upon him from everywhere, and artist friends sent him some very beautiful and original birthday cards, and dainty little sketches."I am most grateful to be so

There is rumour afloat around message from one of the "gods" that a most devastating earthquake, to be attended with serious loss of life and property, may be expected on the seventh day of the fifth moon (June 2), writes a correspondent to the N. C. Daily News. This message from the seen or unseen was accompanied by a prescription for certain herbs or drugs, which, when boiled, had to be poured out in liquid form into the river, and so the individual might obtain immunity from the coming calamity. In his turn the individual was instructed to make 10 copies of the said prescription and distribute them to 10 other people and so a sort of endless chain of life-saving was established. As I have not followed the instructions I haste-ly send you a message, as the calamity by this prediction is only two days ahead.There have been further movements of troops recently into the provincial capital, where our redoubtable Gen. Tenz seems to have established himself. To pay his expenses he has called for a levy of $125,000 from Mien-chow, one and a half day's journey from here, and this is now being collected.During my recent tour, besides the things I have already mentioned in former letters, two other things have struck me; first, the remarkable way the Tong Shan Huei has spread. Their rites seem to be a mixture of hypnotism and spiritualism, very much along the lines of the Red Lantern Sect (Boxers) of some years ago though they are not yet as avowedly anti-foreign or anti-Christian. The other thing that struck me was the frequency one heard "Yang Ren" called after one. This term died out some years ago, but this year may be heard everywhere. The people in general seem very unsettled in mind and expect disturbances of some kind in the intercalary month (July). The frequency of these alarmist reports and the general feeling of uneasiness make us wonder if something really will happen.WATCH THE FRUIT YOUR are good for children there is danger in fruit which is green, over-ripe or damaged, among the least of the evils to be feared from such fruit being acute indigestion, diarrhoea and worms.When you have reason to suspect that your child has eaten fruit of a doubtful character the best course is to administer a dose of Baby's Own Tablets at once, for these Tablets quickly

HARBOUR HAWKERS.

Must be Licensed.

The harbour has approximately four hundred unlicensed hawkers of different nationalities, including Europeans, Chinese, Japanese and Indians, according to the estimate of a Police Sergeant at the Magistracy this morning. On the instructions of the Deputy Superintendent of Police steps have been taken to stop the business of these hawkers unless they license themselves, and eight Chinese arrested yesterday were brought up before the Magistrate, Mr. R.E. Lindsell, this morning.

The Magistrate said that this was the first case of its kind he had had before him. It was his impression that it was a privilege to hawkers in the harbour to sell without licences. He, however, fined seven of them $1 and discharged the eighth defendant, a small boy, whose plea was that he was conveying cakes to coolies working on a Japanese steamer.

MILITARY FOOTBALL

King's Battalion League.

Thirteen matches in this competition have been played during the week, one match having to be postponed on account of bad weather.

There have been few important changes in the position of clubs in the League table, except that No. 9 Platoon takes the third place from No. 5 Platoon by reason of a slightly better goal average.

No. 6 Platoon lost to No. 12 Platoon on the 18th instant and thereby fell to ninth position in the League.

The Drummers have been without a fixture during the past seven days, and the Band were very unfortunate to be defeated by No. 1 Platoon by the odd goal of three, as the play was all in favour of the Band.

The Machine Gunners "A" team are still at the head of the table, but they received a fright from No. 12 Platoon, who put up a very good fight for the points in this fixture. No. 12 scored after ten minutes' play and maintained this lead until 12 minutes from the end, and the Gunners obtained three goals in rapid succession. Although No. 12 obtained a second goal a few minutes later the Gunners managed to win by 3-2.

The meeting of No. 14 Platoon and No. 11 Platoon provided an excellent game in which No. 14 were extremely lucky to win by the only goal of the match.

The League Table, including results of matches played on the 22nd instant, and the week's results, is given below:—

Results.

Machine Gunners "A," 3; No. 12 Platoon, 2.

Hongkong, 22nd June, 1922."BROADCASTING" THE LEWIS-"CARP" FIGHT.How the News was Disseminated.

With the special sanction of the Postmaster-General and by permission of the Marconi Company, the Daily Chronicle sent out by wireless telephone a report and the result of the Carpenter-Kid Lewis Fight at Olympia.

The news was heard by amateur "listeners-in" over a wide radius. It was dispatched from Marconi House in the Strand, and many messages were received later from enthusiastic wireless amateurs acknowledging the enterprise of the Chronicle and stating that the report of the fight was heard clearly and without interruption.

Within 12 minutes of Lewis being knocked out, the Chronicle had a telephone message of thanks and congratulations from a wireless amateur, who received the special report on his receiving set at Canterbury.

Dr. Maskin, of Dartford, telephoned to say that he received the wireless news, and at once sent it round to the Scala Theatre, Dartford, where the result was announced.

Many parts of the country which are cut off late at night from ordinary telegraphic and telephonic communication were enabled to receive the news, which otherwise could not have been known until this morning.

FROM RING SIDE.
The story of the fight was transmitted from the ring side at Olympia by a representative of the Chronicle and was distributed over the whole of the Home Counties within a few seconds of the result being known.

A special wireless concert in Kensington, which had been arranged by Miss Florence Parbury, attracted many "listeners-in," who heard the Chronicle description of the fight sent out by the same wireless apparatus.

Renewed Warning.

Peking, June 12.
In a further letter from the Waichiaopu to Foreign Ministers in Peking, the Chinese Foreign Office points out, with reference to the complications constantly caused by the provinces borrowing money from foreign merchants on the security of railways and mines, that the Chinese Foreign Office had repeatedly notified the Diplomatic Body that no provincial loan made with foreign merchants would be considered valid unless it had first received the sanction of the Central Government.

In this letter it was again specially declared that hereafter, if any provincial organ, no matter of whom composed, pledged secretly to foreigners, whether by mortgage, sale, lease or loan, either the mines or railways of the locality, or land, the land tax or other tax, or other class of government-owned business, such contracts would be deemed absolutely null and void unless the sanction of the Central Government had been applied for and obtained.

SIR ERNEST SHACKLETON
LEAVES £556.

Sir Ernest Shackleton's will has been proved. Sir Ernest left unsettled property value £556, with net personality nil. Probate has been granted to his widow, to whom he left all his property absolutely. On behalf of Mr. John Quiller Rowett, a partner in the Quest venture, an order was made recently placing Sir Ernest's estate in the hands of a receiver. It was explained at the time that the appointment was in no sense hostile to Lady Shackleton.

THE PRINCE'S BIRTHDAY.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is 25 years old to-day. After a tour of India and the Far East which has occupied the greater part of a year, he is now again in the old Homeland. The welcome which he received in London is described as the most wonderful the metropolis has ever given to any person. We can well understand that. This princely young man is Home again after a long period of absence during which he has been serving the Empire truly and well. The tour he has made has not been without its risks, but the Prince was never one to avoid responsibilities. He has discharged the obligations resting upon him during his travels to the East, in a manner which made him most popular everywhere he went, and, what is more, with a tact and charm that have brought fresh honour to the Royal Family, and, amongst those who owe allegiance to the King, strengthened the attachment to the Throne.

We in Hongkong now feel that we have a personal interest in the Prince, whose visit to this Colony will be long treasured in our memories. During his visit here, he showed those genuine qualities of heart which have made him admired in all parts of the world. Modest, yet ever alert; cheery and of boundless energy; above all, so unaffected and "human"—we shall always think of him as one of whom the whole British nation may be justly proud. That, after his prolonged wanderings, he is glad once again to be Home was made apparent in the telegrams which came to hand yesterday. And the people yearned to see him again and to show how warm their welcome was.

Happy and fortunate the nation which has an Heir Apparent of the stamp of the Prince of Wales. Thrones may fall in other countries, but the British Throne is too firmly based in the popular will to suffer a like fate. And the manly young Prince who was so recently with us here in Hongkong has done much to consolidate and strengthen its foundations. On this his natal day we gladly join with Britishers everywhere in the hope that he may celebrate many more such joyous anniversaries. Long Live the Prince!

De Valera Again.

The Irish election results continue to go in favour of the Treaty. That singular politician, Mr. Erskine Childers, formerly a commander in the Navy and at one time a writer of somewhat Imperialistic tendency, who suddenly blossomed out as a Sinn Féiner of the extreme kind, was so little in favour that the voters put him at the bottom of the poll. Nor could Mrs. Pearse, whose sad history might have been expected to make a strong appeal to the emotions of the voters, secure election. It will be remembered that she was married in prison a day or two before the capital sentence was carried out upon her husband for his share in the Irish outbreak during the war. In Dublin County, the constituency which Mrs. Pearse contested, the pro-Treaty majority was no less than ten to one. With such facts as these confronting him, Mr. de Valera seeks to explain the Republican defeat by the puerile theory that "Ireland, under the threat of war, voted as England desired." This is altogether reversing the position. The matter for surprise is that the pro-Treatyites have shown themselves so superior to the intimidatory influence of the I.R.A. In the circumstances the election results are eloquent of Ireland's realisation that the Treaty provides for a rational settlement. Despite this fine prospect of a new era in Anglo-Irish relations, Mr. de Valera deliberately seeks to perpetuate the feud. There is reason to believe that force of logic, not of arms, will nullify the efforts of this mischief-maker.

Foreign Post-Offices.

For a number of years Sir Walter de Frece has been well known in theatrical circles, and in particular as the husband of the lady so long popular in vaudeville as Vesta Tilley. Nobody suspected him of political ambitions. Perhaps it was the knight-hood that gave his thoughts a serious turn, and, with Lady Tilley exhibiting her aptitude as election-agent, Sir Walter "got in." As legislator he has shown considerable zeal—in fact, his zeal appears to outrun his knowledge. In the Commons on Wednesday he declared that Japan "had already withdrawn most of her post-offices from China," and suggested that the British Government should imitate this example. In the evacuation of Shantung and the contemplated withdrawal of the garrison from Hankow, the Japanese Government has given evidence of good faith in relation to the Washington agreements. These do not call for the withdrawal of post-offices before next year, and we have not heard of any power anticipating the date. Mr. Harmsworth's statement that the British Government is preparing to evacuate in January shows, however, that another instalment of the Washington decisions is likely to become operative in the early future.

Interport Polo Match.

Anticipations of a close game in the polo match between Hongkong and Shanghai were so fully borne out that this year's meeting will stand as a notable event in the Interport series. This renders additionally unfortunate the accident which befell Mr. Bibby, especially as the Colony's captain was voted the most outstanding player on the field. Messages from the Northern port at first indicated that Hongkong would be slight favourites on the strength of their well-schooled mounts, to say nothing of their excellent performances in the Philippines recently. Later reports indicated that Shanghai had become favourites on account of the fine ponies provided by Mr. Dallas, of Shanghai Gymkhana fame, and because the players were well together through having represented the Model Settlement in several successful games. Here then was the prospect of an exciting struggle, and exciting it was, for the last chukka was started with one goal separating the teams at 5-4 in Shanghai's favour; hence the "tremendous excitement" when Hongkong equalised can be readily understood. An extra chukka left the teams level, and in a further one Mr. Bibby had the ill-fortune to sustain a severe, though not, we trust, a serious, injury, the right leg being cut to the bone. With their depleted team, the Colony's representatives were unable to repel a Shanghai rush, a remarkable game ending with the score 6-5. We may commiserate with the Colony's team upon their handicap while not forgetting to congratulate Shanghai.

DAY BY DAY.

WHEN A MAN RESTS ON HIS LAURELS HE FINDS HIS LAURELS DROOP.

Captain W. Davison returned here by the Empress of Japan.

On the occasion of the presentation of prizes won at the annual rifle meeting, the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps is holding a smoking concert, on Tuesday, 27th. Instant, at Headquarters, at 9.15 p.m.

For lying in Causeway Bay harbour of refuge without the permission of the Harbour Master, the master of the motor-boat Fao Ying was at the Marine Court, this morning, fined $10, with the option of 14 days.

Yesterday's health return shows five cases of plague (four fatal), two non-fatal cases of scarlet fever and one non-fatal case each of "small-pox" and cerebro-spinal fever. The scarlet fever cases were Portuguese and the others Chinese.

An attempted robbery occurred at 1, Lai-chi-yuen, Kowloon City, at 8.20 last night. Five or six men rushed into the house through the front door, which was inadvertently left open, but did not succeed in their purpose, owing to the alarm raised by several of the occupants who escaped from the building through the back door.

Mr. Henrique Hyndman, formerly a resident of Hongkong, who was bookkeeper of the China Sugar Refining Co., and later professor at a Commercial School in Macao (now retired), to-day celebrates his 94th birthday. This veteran gentleman is still enjoying good health and is residing at present with his daughter, Mrs. Jose de Graca, in Kowloon.

Mr. D. G. Nicoll, formerly of the Hongkong Rope Manufacturing Co. Ltd., who left for Home to-day by the Mishima Maru, was last night made the recipient of a silver-mounted blackwood tray, silver tea set and a case of pipes at the K.C.C. The presentation was from the members of the golfing section of the Club, of which he was Captain last year.

A fine of $50 was inflicted by Comdr. Backwith, at the Marine Court, this morning, on the owner of the motor-boat Kwong Sang Loong, who was charged with failing to take out a licence, as required under the Hongkong Merchant Shipping Ordinance, and with allowing his motor-boat to be under way without a certified coxswain or engineer. The defence was that the boat had just done her trials and she was only being used to carry a number of fitters.

For failing to take out a licence for his motor-boat, the Kwong Nguan Seng 2, Chan Tai-cho was fined $100 at the Marine Court, this morning. The Marine Magistrate, Comdr. Backwith, pointed out to defendant that this was the second time he had contravened the law with regard to his motor-boat. On May 19th he was warned by the Court and fined $25, yet it had had no effect. In addition to the fine, the Magistrate ordered defendant to get his boat licensed before he runs it in the harbour again.

Mr. A. G. Stephen, chief manager of the Hongkong & Shanghai Bank, who left by the Empress of Russia yesterday, expects to be back in Shanghai in October. He is then bringing out Miss Betty Addis, whose marriage to Mr. D. G. M. Bernard, manager of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., in Hongkong, takes place in the autumn. Mr. Stephen has now a residence in Shanghai, where Mrs. Stephen is living, and expects in the future to visit this town as often as his duties at Hongkong will permit.—North China Daily News, June 20.

At the Magistracy this morning a charge of riotous behaviour was preferred against twenty-seven chair bearers who were arrested in connection with the trouble between chair coolies yesterday morning. One of them was further charged with assaulting a police constable. All the defendants were on bail, twenty-five of them on $20 each and the remaining two $50 each. An application for a reduction of bail was made by Mr. H. L. Dennis, solicitor for the defence, but was not entertained. The case was adjourned until Tuesday afternoon.

THE IRISH ELECTIONS.

Further Interesting Results.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, June 22. The latest figures in the Irish elections are—Coalition pro-Treaty, 55; Coalition Republican, 34; Labour, 15; Farmers 6; Independents, 10. It is noteworthy that the anti-Treatyites lost 24 seats. The Independents, including Farmers and Labourites, form 25 per cent of the new Parliament. Of sixteen Labourites, only one was defeated. The declaration of polling in Mr. Collins' constituency, Mid. Cork, alone remains to complete the Republican rout. It is already known that Mr. Collins has headed the poll by double the quota required to secure election. There were 36,393 voting for eight seats in Mid. Cork, hence the counting is protracted. The Labourites also polled more than his quota. The completion of the poll at Kildare, Wicklow, which voted 4 to 1 pro-Treaty, resulted in three Independents displacing three Republicans. The Coalition Treasuries, Mr. Byrne, headed the poll, while the Republican, Mr. Barton, only secured election under proportional representation.

Mr. Collins' election for Mid. Cork may be declared void as a result of tampering with ballot papers.

THE WAR DEBT QUESTION.

Britain Wants Interest in Cash.

London, June 22. The question of the French war debt to Britain was brought up in the House of Commons and evoked a statement by Mr. Lloyd George that the French Government had not endeavoured to raise the question of cancellation, but the subject was naturally informally mentioned between the representatives. The Premier repeated that the taxpayers would be unable to remit the sums advanced to other countries during and after the war if the payment of interest and capital were pressed in respect of loans to Britain to aid in the prosecution of the war. The Government had therefore notified such countries that we must be regarded as free to ask for interest in cash in respect of money advances from next October.

THE OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Strenuous Anglo-American Rivalry.

London, June 22. At Sandwich, the first day in the Open Golf Championship proper was remarkable for the failure of Kirkwood, who was quite obscured by the British and American performances. The Australian played nervously, giving only glimpses of his recent form. Walter Hagen, after an indifferent morning round, leads the field with an aggregate of 149, followed by Duncan, Taylor and Barnes 151; Hutchinson 153. Kirkwood stood fourteenth with 155. The Americans are playing most confidently, Hagen's putting being uncannily accurate. With Taylor and Duncan playing soundly, however, the final stage promises a stern struggle of a distinctly international character.

THE DAVIS CUP.

Australian Victories Over Belgium.

London, June 22. At Scarborough, in the Davis Cup competition, first round, Patterson (Australia) beat Washer (Belgium) by 6-3, 6-4, 5-4. Patterson was rather weak in his backhand play, but his service was greatly superior. Anderson (Australia) beat Watson (Belgium) by 6-2, 6-1, 6-2. This was a much more interesting match than the first, the players going up to the net frequently. Both made excellent strokes, but Anderson was generally the cleverer.

DUTCH FIRST CHAMBER ELECTIONS.

Sweeping Victory for the Right Parties.

The Hague, June 22. The First Chamber elections resulted in a debacle for the Left parties, which lost eight seats. The position now is: Right, 41; Left, 9. The Socialists M. Polak, President of the Dutch Diamond Workers' League, and M. Vankol are among the unseated. [In Holland the First Chamber signifies the Upper House contrary to British practice, according to which the Upper House is termed the Second Chamber.]

THE PRINCE'S RETURN.

Created A Knight of the Thistle.

London, June 22. The Prince of Wales has been created a Knight of the Thistle. [The Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle ranks second only to Order of the Garter. Established in 1540, the Order was reconstituted by a statute of 1827, which provided that it should consist of the Sovereign and 16 Knights. The motto of the Order is: Nemo me impune lacessit—nobody insults me with impunity.]

LABOUR LEGISLATION IN THE U.S.

Workers to Seek Amendments to Constitution.

Cincinnati, June 22. As the result of labour decisions by the Courts is adverse to labour, the American Federation of Labour has decided to propose amendments to the Constitution, giving Congress power to veto decisions of the Supreme Court, and guaranteeing the right of the workers to organise and bargain collectively and to strike, also prohibiting child labour.

U. S. COASTAL STEAMSHIP RATES.

Big Reduction on Cotton Cargoes.

New York, June 22. The Southern Pacific and Mallory Steamship lines announce a 30-per cent reduction in cotton rates between Gulf and Atlantic ports from July 1, meaning an enormous saving for the New England mills; also a 10 per cent reduction on all other commodities. Export cotton rates remain unchanged.

U.S. BANK RATE DOWN.

Boston, June 22. The Federal Reserve Bank has reduced the discount rate by ½ per cent, to 4 per cent.

CHINA'S GRAND OLD MAN.

Death of Dr. Wu Ting-fang.

A ROMANTIC CAREER.

There will be profound regret, not only throughout the whole of China, but also in many political circles in different parts of the world at the news, which our special correspondent in Canton telegraphed to us this morning, that Dr. Wu Ting-fang, China's veteran politician, has passed away. There was no more prominent figure in Chinese political life and it can truthfully be said that there was no man who strove so honestly, consistently, or so long to bring about enlightened political reforms. His was an outstanding personality, marked by rigorous honesty and a firm belief in the great future of China. During the course of his long and honourable career in the service of his country, he had always identified himself with the party which he thought was heading for real reforms and progress and, in his association with Sun Yat-sen here in the south, his belief in the bona fide intentions of his chief were evident to all who knew him. The writer had that privilege. And Dr. Wu was ever protesting his confidence that it would be from Canton that real reform in China would come. Right up to the last, he remained loyal to Sun, but in the coup which has been effected by Chan King-ming's forces, he was forced to seek hiding and obscurity. Nearly eighty years of age, Dr. Wu suffered a breakdown in health and news came through yesterday that he had been admitted to Hospital. His condition gradually grew worse, and high fever followed, which proved fatal at an early hour this morning.

His Career.

It would be possible to write columns regarding the distinguished and romantic career of this great Chinese.

Born in Kwangtung Province, he was educated at St. Paul's College, Hongkong, and subsequently studied law at Lincoln's Inn, London, where he was called to the Bar, with the distinction of being the first Chinese Barrister. For a time he acted as a Magistrate in Hongkong, and in 1896 was appointed by the Throne to be Minister to the United States, Spain and Peru. In 1903 he was made Vice-President of the Board of Commerce in Peking and Commissioner for revision of treaties. Later he became Vice-President of the Board of Foreign Affairs and Vice-President of the Board of Punishments. In 1905 he was made Commissioner for the Revision of Laws, and a Judge of the International Court of Arbitration at The Hague. In 1907 he was again sent to America as Minister and returned in 1910 after visiting Europe. When the Revolution broke out he was placed in charge of foreign affairs by the Revolutionary committee, with headquarters at Shanghai, and did much to secure for the revolutionary cause the sympathy of foreign nations against the efforts of Manchus.

At the time that it was decided to make peace between the Manchu and revolutionary forces Dr. Wu was appointed to head the delegates representing the South, Mr. Tang Shao-yi being the leader of those from the North. Dr. Wu's opening speech at the conference was so effective that he virtually converted Mr. Tang Shao-yi to the revolutionary cause on the spot, and this fact did more than anything else to convince Yuan Shih-kai of the hopelessness of any endeavour to retain the Manchus on the Throne. The result was the early abdication of the Manchus and the establishment of the Republic, an event with which the name of Dr. Wu will ever be associated. When the Republican Government came into being Dr. Wu retired to private life, nor could he be induced to take office. He had made up his mind to write a book on his American experiences and to read and study philosophy. He so employed himself through the turmoil of 1913, when a revolution was attempted to put Yuan Shih-kai out of power, and through the later revolution against the monarchy. Dr. Wu associated himself with neither of these, except for a strong letter he wrote personally to Yuan Shih-kai urging him to retire from the Presidency, and refrain from his attempt to secure the Throne.

In November, 1916, in response to many requests, he took up the

DAY BY DAY.

The master of the George Bing I was fined $10 at the Marine Court, before Comdr. Beckwith, this morning, for failing to produce his licence on board the boat when called upon to do so by a police officer, on the 12th. inst.

Catholics are to-day celebrating the Feast of the Sacred Heart. There have been special observances at the Cathedral and this evening a grand procession is to take place in the compound, followed by a sermon. At 9 p.m. there will be a special alfresco musical festival, when the Catholic Club will be "at home."

To-morrow's picture will include group photographs of University athletes, pictures of the Y.M.C.A. volleyball champions and other Y.M.C.A. athletes, the latest portrait of President Li Yuan-hung and a portrait of Mr. Chang Chien, the industrial magnate of Nan Tung Chow, who has just been appointed President of the Bank of Communications.

A number of cases of failing to observe the rules of the road came before Comdr. Beckwith, at the Marine Court, this morning. The master of the steam launch Gladstone was fined $10, and the masters of the steam launches Yan Hing, Lee Yick, Chi Wo and Kwong Yat $15. Those fined the larger sum were those with previous convictions.

The disappearance of 11-year-old son was yesterday reported by a woman, living at 2 Kennedy Street, who stated to the police that she believed her offspring had been drowned as she found his clothes lying on the reclamation near the Wanchai Police Station. A boatman who was reported missing on the 19th, was found floating in Shaikwan Bay by the police yesterday.

appointment of Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet at Peking, but in 1919 he was dissatisfied with the corrupt practices and militarism going on in Peking that he broke away from the Northern Government and allied himself with the "constitutional" movement in Canton. Joining hands with Sun Yat-sen, in whom he had implicit faith, he strove to make the Canton Government representative of what was best in political China. For a long time he was Minister for Foreign Affairs in Canton and, when Chan King-ming was dismissed by Sun recently, he took over the post of Civil Governor and also the Ministry for Finance. He handed over the seals of his Governorship and his other offices only the day before yesterday.

Dr. Wu was, perhaps, better known in foreign lands than any other single Chinese. He had travelled much and his posts abroad had given him a wide knowledge of world questions. His death marks the passing of China's "Grand Old Man"—a patriot in every sense of the word.

His Connection with Hongkong.

It is, perhaps, not generally known that the late Dr. Wu was the first Chinese Barrister to be called to the English Bar and the first to be admitted to practice in this Colony. Mr. Ng Choy, as he was then known, was admitted on May 18th, 1877, and was the recipient of a congratulatory address from the Bench. In January, 1890, he was appointed a member of the Hongkong Legislative Council, a position which he held for some time. In 1881 he was made Acting Police Magistrate and continued to hold that post for a number of years. Later he identified himself with the Chinese Government in Peking, becoming legal adviser and foreign interpreter to Li Hung-chang. He received his appointment as Minister to the United States in 1896, when he took the name of Wu Ting-fang. In honour of his appointment the Chinese community of the Colony gave him a banquet, whilst the Chief Justice and members of the Bar entertained him at a dinner. He always continued to display a lively interest in Hongkong affairs.

DROUGHT IN JAPAN.

Farmers' Difficulties.

Osaka, June 22.—There are widespread agricultural disputes in southwestern Japan between landlords and tenant farmers and these are now seriously aggravated owing to the continuance of the drought the like of which has not been known for the past forty years. The month of June is regarded as the rainy season when the farmers plant their rice, but this year there has been no rain practically the whole month. The farmers in some localities are abandoning the cultivation of rice because there is no prospect of a good harvest. Besides, they declare that tenant farming does not pay anyhow. Some landlords are threatening to take away the land from the tenants and import American tractors to do their own farming.—Reuter.

CHINA'S PARLIAMENT TO MEET NEXT MONTH?

Drafting a New Constitution.

Peking, June 18.

Mr. Wu Ching-lian, Chairman of the House of Representatives, has been notified by all the absent groups of members of the Parliament that they will leave for Peking in July at the latest. They are expected to arrive about the middle of July, after which Parliament will begin the work of drafting the new Constitution.

Messrs. Tung Kang and Kao En-hung left for Peking yesterday afternoon and returned this morning, after a four-hour conference yesterday evening with General Tsao Kung and Wu Peifu, at which it was unanimously decided that provincial budgets should be referred to the General Government and provincial military expenditure should be paid by the Central Government, no revenues to be held by the provinces for the payment of troops, the Central Government thus controlling provincial troops. The result of the visit was reported to the Cabinet this morning.

THE DISBANDMENT COMMISSION.

The suggestion has been made that General Wang Shih-chien, Chen Ching-ming, Lu Yong-hsiang and Tsao Kung should head the commission in charge of disbandment.

A message to the Government from the Tsuchun of Shansi, Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, advocates early disbandment of the majority of troops. He points out that formerly a burgher system prevailed by which men employed on farms could be called on for national service, but between times laboured productively.

Gen. Yen thinks that this system merits careful consideration and meanwhile recommends that picked men should be selected for service with the National Army and the remainder be sent home to work out their own salvation. Some of them, however, should be enrolled in a National Reserve, which should be strictly limited to the requirements of the country.

TO-DAY'S MISCELLANY.

Sitting the other day at a table outside the Cafe de Paris, opposite the Casino at Monte Carlo, writes a correspondent in a Home paper, I was intrigued by the manner in which a certain pretty but wonderfully hand-painted lady partook of the tea ordered for her by her admiring escort. Her lips were so lavishly spread with carmine, and her face so thickly coated with an enamel-like liquid powder, that it seemed a dangerous proceeding even to attempt to consume such refreshment, and I became quite anxious as to the results of her rashness. My fears, however, were quickly set at rest, for this dainty dame was quite equal to the occasion. She calmly ordered a couple of straws to be brought, and imbibed her hot tea through them without damage to her carmined lips.

Experts are preparing to sit in judgment on a certain mountain in South London. The statue stands in Trinity-square, South-west, and attention appears to have been drawn to it by the centenary observances at Trinity Church, close by. According to tradition, it is a figure of King Alfred, and, at one time, occupied a more or less conspicuous place at Westminster Hall. It is to be the duty of the inquirers to find out if this be really so; and, if so, effigy will henceforth come in for special notice as being the only one in London of the King who spoiled the cakes. Winchester, of course, boasts a fine one. But if investigation prove it to be a misnomer, with no claim to special regard, the dear old thing will be promptly forgotten—until somebody in a later day reveals the tale.

SHIPPING NEWS.

TANKER TONNAGE.

There has been a considerable falling-off everywhere in the construction of tanker tonnage, as between December and March, as the following figures show:-

Country	Dec. 31, 1921	Mar. 31, 1922
United Kingdom	535,019	416,654
British Dominions	16,800	11,600
France	3,384	3,384
France	50,200	40,480
Holland	9,600	9,765
Italy	48,000	41,800
Japan	26,400	18,400
Sweden	5,450	5,450
U.S.A.	103,890	67,976
	793,193	615,390

THE LATEST CUNARD.

The Cunard liner Samaria, which sailed from Liverpool on her maiden voyage to Boston, had a most successful passage, maintaining an average speed of close upon 15 knots and showing distinctly economical consumption of oil fuel. Her two sets of Brown-Curtis turbine machinery worked very satisfactorily throughout, and an examination in port the gear-wheels were found to be in first-class condition.

SALE OF LIVERPOOL LINERS.

The demand for second-hand steam tonnage has been decidedly slow during the past few weeks, and shipping salesmen report a distinct lack of interest in such, many cheap lines on offer being without response. Presumably the unattractiveness of the freight market and the large quantity of British tonnage still laid up, estimated by the Chamber of Shipping a month ago at 750,000 tons net, is the cause of the apathy. Some liner tonnage, however, has been disposed of at low rates, especially when the well-known character of such tonnage is taken into account.

Messrs. C. W. Kellock and Co. have sold the Alfred Holt liner Eurymedon, ex Indragadi, to British buyers for under £20,000, at which price her new owners can afford to put her into such condition as to make them an adequate return in due course.

She was built at Glasgow by Messrs. C. Connell and Co., in 1902, and engine by Messrs. D. Rowan and Co., Glasgow, fitted with electric light and wireless, and can carry 1,350 tons of oil fuel, i.e., 150 deg. in cellular double bottom. She passed last survey at Cardiff in 1918, and stands in Lloyd's Register classed 100 A.1.

The Leyland Line Dominion, 4,402 tons net, of Liverpool, has been sold to foreign buyers for £10,000 and will shortly leave Milford Haven, where she has been laid up all the year, for a Continental port, possibly to be broken up. She was built 28 years ago by Messrs. Harland and Wolff at Belfast, and is fitted with refrigerating, electric, sub-marine signalling, and wireless apparatus, and has been for many years a well-known vessel in the North Atlantic trade.

*Journal of Commerce.GERMAN SHIPPING COMPETITION.At the recent meeting of the German Shipowners' Association, held in Berlin, Herr Stimming, general director of the North German Lloyd Company, is reported to have stated that the German shipping companies did not intend to render the present difficult situation of the freight market worse by reducing freights or by other disloyal competition, as they were fully aware that they would thereby injure themselves in the long run. The above statement is quoted by the Christiania Norges Handelsblad, which remarks that the German expression stands in conflict with the German line's freight policy in recent times and in opposition to the action of Herr Stimming's own company in the past few days, in so far as concerns the traffic to Norway. Thus, the German line, the newspaper says, is underbidding to a large degree for through goods the rates of the Scandinavian lines, and is thereby carrying on disloyal competition with the latter. The newspaper says that it knows that Norwegian companies' communications to the German liner companies have only been received with evasive answers, and there are instances of the North German Lloyd having quoted for through goods from Norway via Bremen very considerably lower rates than those quoted in Norway. The line is supposed to have been told that the German line, the newspaper says, has brought into operation with its many and confidential facilities statements which are made by the general director of the meeting in Berlin.JAVA-CHINA-JAPAN LIJN.Regular Fortnightly Service between
